

Explore the system. Check the fit.

Start with your task, the wearer and the requirements in your market. Review the mask, filter and supporting documents as one configuration.

Questions to bring to the RZ team

What task are you doing? Which country will the product be used in? What fit checks, eyewear and replacement filters does your team need?

Understand the product configuration

European FFP2 and FFP3: Ask for the current documents for the exact model, filter and market. Confirm sizing and fit requirements before choosing.

Upcoming RZ Pro N99: NIOSH approval has not been granted. It is not approved for required workplace respiratory protection. European certification does not establish United States approval.

Keep the right information together

Review product identification, filter compatibility, fitting instructions and approval information together. Do not treat a filtration figure by itself as approval of the complete product for your workplace.

Get documents or discuss your next step

Request product information, ask about samples, or discuss purchasing for your organization. RZ will confirm suitability, availability and next steps. A sample inquiry does not place an order or guarantee a sample.
